PRESIDENT TO SUBMIT GERMANY'S PEACE PROPOSALS TO ALLIES

River Aisne we made slight progress against certain points. "Three attempts by the Germans to take the offensive sgainst the English met with decided checks. "From Craenne to Rheims we have also repulsed three riolent counter attacks made at night. The enemy has tainly tried to take the offensive against Rheims.

"At the centre, from Rheims to the Argonnes, the enemy s strengthened his position with important fortified works and has adopted a purely offensive attitude.

"On the east from Argonne the situation is unchanged. "In Lorraine and the Vosges the enemy occupies positions organized for defense in the vicinity of the frontier."

For five days the French and British have vainly tried to break through the strong German fortified lines. Thousands of men have been killed. But so far neither side has scored a material advantage.

The third battle of the war, and its bloodiest, is still in the balance, with both sides constantly reinforcing their lines in the struggle for mastery.

No statements of casualities are obtainable. But train after train filled with wounded is passing around the city and being hurried south to the hospital bases. Many officers of high rank have been killed or wounded.

The fighting on the centre, where the Germans have tried vainly to retake Rheims, has been most desperate. Last night the Germans essayed a night attack in force in an effort to break through. They got close to the city, but were finally driven back with terrible losses by the French

Through the blackness of the night the Germans moved, sonly to be almost surrounded and cut to pieces.

The fighting on the French left has also been very bitter. The brunt here was borne by the English, who beat back fattempts on the part of the extreme right of Gen. von Kluck's army to break through between the English army with great fierceness along the whole front. of Gen. There was much rejoicing when the War Office made that town. public the official reports dealing with the French victory at Nancy, where the Germans, after a battle lasting eight days, finally abandoned their attempt to force the French position.

In his official report, Gen. Durand said:

Thanks to the success of our armies and the brave esistance of our troops, all danger to the positions at Nancy now been averted.

"The enemy, after suffering enormous losses in an attempt to carry the main positions of the French by storm, has been forced to retire from the region."

President Poincare has sent telegrams of congratulation dens. Durand and Castlenaus.

PARIS BARS ROADS OUT FOR AUTOS IN EFFORT TO FOIL ENEMY'S SPIES.

PARIS. Sept. 18.—Beginning to-day no automobiles will be allowed to leave Paris, except military ambulances and cars carrying officials and journalists bound to and from Bordeaux. It is thought this action may be due to the use of automobiles by spies.

Two cars, one black and one green, have been speeding around the outskirts of Paris, defying the challenges of sentinels. Both automobiles were driven by chauffeurs wearing French uniforms and carrying passengers in plain clothes, who in some cases have returned the fire directed at them by sentinels. There seems to be no doubt that the cars were used by spies to locate positions of troops in the vicinity of Paris.

At the White House to-day it was said that nothing had been received which would change the President's view of the situation.

It was regarded as significant to official quarters to-day that Presiden Wilson had not cabled Ambassador Page at London or Ambassador Herrick at Paris anything concerning the Imperial Chancellor's non-committal conversation with Ambassador Gerard Although Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British Ambassador, called at the State Department to discuss some neutrality cases, the subject was not mentioned to him.

The French Ambassador, Jules Jusserand has not been advised of the latest phases, although previously Secretary Brvan took both Ambassadors into his confidence on the various steps in the informal movement.

It was recalled to-day that the attitude of President Wilson in waiting for something more definite from the beiligerents was similar to that of the American Ambassadors at Tokio and St. Petersburg before the Russoand St. Petersburg before the Russoand and St. Petersburg before the Russo-Japanese war was settled.
